

CMPS

Center for Modern Psychoanalytic Studies

Online Presentation (via Zoom)

Systemic Re-Transmission of Trauma: Defending Against the Lost and Found

This case presentation will discuss the ongoing societal intrusions that emotionally handicapped the interracial therapeutic relationship of the psychoanalyst and the patient. The treatment began in an institutionalized setting with the children, who were searching for their lost maternal object, and then the therapeutic work centered on the mother and her search to find the lost self. The case illustrates various ways the human bond is disrupted by the intergenerational transmission of trauma and its impact on relational value.

2 CE Credits for Psychoanalysts,
Psychologists, and Social Workers

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 17, 2026 • 10:00 AM – 12:00 PM (Eastern)

To Register: cmps.edu/events

For More Information: 212-260-7050 • cmps@cmps.edu

PRACTITIONERS AND GENERAL PUBLIC: $50

STUDENTS: Free

Felecia Powell-Williams, EdD, LPC-S, RPT-S, FABP, is a psychotherapist and psychoanalyst who works with children, adolescents, and adults in private practice in Houston. A graduate of the Center for Psychoanalytic Studies, Texas (CFPS), she is the past president of the CFPS Board of Directors and remains a faculty member in the Child and Adult Training Programs and is co-chair of the Child and Adolescent Training Program. She serves on the APsA Board of Directors, DPE Diversities Section, and heads the APsA Child and Adolescent Psychoanalysis Department. She is an active board member of Houston Psychoanalytic Society and PsiAN.

CONTINUING EDUCATION INFORMATION

LEARNING OBJECTIVES: Participants will be able to (1) describe the impact of systemic re-transmission of trauma as it relates to self-identification, and (2) identify various societal intrusions that influence the therapeutic relationship.

Psychoanalysts: The Center for Modern Psychoanalytic Studies is recognized by the New York State Education Department's State Board for Mental Health Practitioners as an approved provider of continuing education for licensed psychoanalysts (#P-0032).

Psychologists: The Center for Modern Psychoanalytic Studies is recognized by the New York State Education Department's State Board for Psychology as an approved provider of continuing education for licensed psychologists (#PSY-0163).

Social Workers: The Center for Modern Psychoanalytic Studies is recognized by the New York State Education Department's State Board for Social Work as an approved provider of continuing education for licensed social workers (#SW-0206).